

Constantine Boussalis is Assistant Professor of Political Science at Trinity College Dublin. Much of his current work examines the various facets of climate change communication with the help of computational and automated text-analytic methods. His work has appeared in Global Environmental Change, Regulation & Governance, Social Science & Medicine, Journal of Development Studies, Development Policy Review, and the Journal of Applied Research in Memory and Cognition.

e-mail: boussalis@tcd.ie